DAN SMOOT

Vol. 13, No. 24 (Broadcast 616) June 12, 1967 Dallas, Texas

THE CFR'S FOREIGN POLICY

In 1957, after the United States had intervened to stop an invasion of Egypt by Israel, France, and England, President Eisenhower made promises, to Israel, which now have us on the verge of war in the Middle East.⁽¹⁾

We are already at war in Vietnam to keep pledges which Eisenhower made in 1954 when creating the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization, committing us to defend every nation in Southeast Asia.

We have bilateral treaties committing us to defend South Korea, the Philippines, Japan, Iran, Turkey, and Pakistan. The Rio Pact of 1947 commits us to defend all 20 Latin American nations in the Western Hemisphere. The NATO pact of 1949 commits us to defend Belgium, Canada, Denmark, France, Greece, Iceland, Italy, Luxembourg, The Netherlands, Norway, Portugal, Turkey, the United Kingdom, and West Germany. The ANZUS Treaty of 1951 commits us to defend Australia and New Zealand.

By signing the UN Charter as a treaty in 1945, the United States pledged "to take effective collective measures for the prevention and removal of threats to the peace" anywhere on earth.

During an interview with an American reporter in May, 1967, the foreign minister of communist China said:

"The world needs not just one Vietnam, but three or four, and we will get them—in Africa, Asia, and Latin America."⁽²⁾

The Soviets encouraged Nasser to stir up the Middle Eastern trouble, as a means of putting pressure on the United States.⁽³⁾

Our foreign policy has us so trapped and committed that our enemies can involve us in wars, to be fought on their terms, anywhere on earth, anytime they please. They conserve their military manpower and material resources, while we squander ours. When we have fully dissipated our strength in the wars they arrange for us, their stooges in the United States can take control. The most powerful nation in the history of the world will have destroyed itself.

THE DAN SMOOT REPORT is published weekly by The Dan Smoot Report, Inc., Box 9538, Dallas, Texas 75214 (office at 6441 Gaston Ave.). Subscriptions: $18.00 for 2 years; $10.00, 1 year; $6.00, 6 months; first class, $12.50 a year; airmail, $14.50. Dan Smoot was born in Missouri, reared in Texas. With BA and MA degrees from SMU (1938 and 1940), he joined the Harvard faculty (1941) as a Teaching Fellow, doing graduate work in American civilization. From 1942 to 1951, he was an FBI agent; from 1951 to 1955, a commentator on national radio and television. In 1955, he started his present independent, free-enterprise business: publishing this REPORT and abbreviating it each week for radio and TV broadcasts available for commercial sponsorship by business firms.

Though he should be impeached for aiding the communist enemy he orders our soldiers to fight, President Johnson cannot be solely blamed for the policy he is trying to administer. He, like the three Presidents preceding him, is merely following a policy handed down by others.

The foreign policy of the United States is a creature of members of the Council on Foreign Relations. Intervention of the United States in the economic, social, political, and military affairs of other nations; calculated disarmament of the United States; refusal to develop a national defense against the nuclear striking power of the Soviets: trace the history of these and all other important facets of our foreign policy, and you will find members of the Council on Foreign Relations (or of organizations affiliated with the CFR) in control, either as government officials running the programs or as influential lobbyists supporting the programs.

Look into the federal government's domestic policies which are transforming our constitutional Republic into a socialist dictatorship, and you will find the same thing: members of the Council on Foreign Relations (or of its interlocking affiliates) are in control.

I detected this strange condition years ago when I began making a close study of government operations. Everywhere I looked, I found tangled threads, which, when traced back through a web of deception and propaganda, always led to the same source: the Council on Foreign Relations.

Eventually, I learned that the CFR was organized for the specific purpose of internationalizing America's foreign policy and socializing her domestic policy, to the end that the United States would become a mere province in a one-world socialist system.

In 1962, I published The Invisible Government, a 250-page book, showing the complex CFR interlock that has become the unseen government of the United States.

One appendix in The Invisible Government is the official CFR membership roster as of 1961. In response to many requests, I am publishing a new roster of the CFR, as of September 1, 1966.

This week, I give the roster of CFR resident members; next week, the roster of CFR non-resident members.

These rosters do not include the names of 2170 members of the Committees on Foreign Relations—local divisions of the Council, organized in 34 cities throughout the United States. They do not contain the names of thousands of persons who belong to one or more organizations interlocked with the CFR. But the CFR membership is the most useful list of names available for publication in the limited space of this Report, because it names the hard core of the invisible government which is misdirecting the affairs of our nation.

The internationalist foreign policy which the Council on Foreign Relations has established must be abandoned. We must return to the traditional policy of national independence and benign neutrality which our nation followed for 148 years—a policy intended not to isolate Americans from other people, but to keep our government out of the wars, revolutions, and political turmoil of other nations, so that American individuals could build and maintain in this land a citadel of freedom.

We can return to our traditional foreign policy, devote our national resources to effective national defense, and stop our perennial involvement in foreign wars when there are enough informed Americans to change the climate of public opinion, and, thus, the political complexion of Congress. Toward that end, I recommend wider distribution of The Invisible Government.

The book costs $1.00 for single copies—much less for quantity orders.

NEXT WEEK: A roster of the non-resident members of the Council on Foreign Relations, and a commentary on how the CFR has helped transform big business into a lobby for socialism.
